Synopsis

How would our human species compare to other advanced species across the Universe? Would we be considered a successful advanced species or a not-so-successful advanced species?

Inside this book you will find the following hypothetical situation: A highly successful advanced species from another Galaxy has been observing us and learning about our ways for a long time. They are now ready to share with us their thoughts and ideas about how we live here on Planet Earth. They will be grading us across several different categories much like a teacher grades a student.

The 9 Categories we are graded on: Technology, the Economy, Entertainment, Health, Management of Life's Stresses, Mental State, Equality, Preparing our Young for Life's Challenges, and Planet Maintenance.

Are we a highly successful A/B type species or are we something less? The answer is revealed within these pages.

Category I

Technology

Criteria for grading: What kind of innovations and inventions has your species created? Do those innovations and inventions reduce or increase the daily stresses of Human life? Has your species developed the ability to travel to and utilize other worlds within your Solar System/Galaxy?

Our Thoughts: Your Human species, for the most part, excels at this category. Your inventions are truly inspiring. From being able to communicate quickly and efficiently to nearly every corner of your Planet within a relatively short period of time should be commended. Your technology over the last decade (2010-2020) has exponentially grown into nearly all areas of your life. Some of your technologies are pointless and uninspired but much of that comes down to Human issues rather than technology. Same for your technology making your species' lives easier. Technology alone most likely does make many areas of your lives easier while some technology sets you back and makes life more difficult. However, its mostly not the technology that's the problem. It's how an Advanced Species utilizes that technology. But since this category is mostly based on the technological innovations without much emphasis on how they are used, our grading will be based more on what you created instead of how you are using it. What and how your species does with your technology will come out within the next several categories.

Your species does have some quite remarkable feats you should be proud of. Some with technology and a lot with the Human spirit along with your desire to explore the unknown. You guys excel at that aspect of your life on Planet Earth.

We are also impressed with how you figured out and mapped out much of the History of your Planet through the Geological Time Scale and your impressive work with the Fossil record.

Much of your medical technology is top notch as well. While most of your species fails to adequately treat chronic diseases, in our opinion, it's not a technology or innovation problem.

NASA and Space Exploration entities like it are also some of your biggest achievements. We love the Hubble telescope. It gives your species and incredible eye, deep into the inner workings of our Universe. Then we were equally impressed with how you figured out how to fix the Hubble Telescope millions of miles away. Simply Brilliant!!

For all of these reasons, we give the Human species the following grade for Technology on your Planet.
